

Prof. Dr. Jan Philipp Klein is a consultant at the department of Psychiatry, Psychosomatics and Psychotherapy at the University of Lübeck, Germany. His clinical and scientific focus is on psychotherapy, particularly the treatment of persistent depressive disorder with the Cognitive Behavioral Analysis System of Psychotherapy (CBASP). He is a certified CBASP-therapist, -supervisor and -trainer. Prof. Klein is the head of the section of psychosomatics which offers a broad spectrum of patient services ranging from outpatient via liaison to inpatient services. Here, patients are offered a broad range of modern methods of psychotherapy, including Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (ACT) and CBASP.